63 Dead In Wake Of Blizzard That Paralyzed East

Plows Battle Hip-Deep Snow In Some Areas

Icy Temperatures Continue, Spread Deep Into South

By The Associated Press

A howling blizzard that staggered much of the Eastern Seaboard moved out of the Northeast early today leaving a tragic death toll in its wake.

Winter held its icy grip, however, as a severe cold wave plunged temperatures well below zero and spread freezing temperatures deep into the South.

Smudge pots burned during the night around vegetable fields in southern Florida as truck farmers braced for a predicted 32-degree low in that usually mild area.

Northeast areas struggled to shake off the grip of a snow cover of up to 29 inches that disrupted travel, closed schools and businesses and postponed many events.

The number of deaths resulting from storms reached 63, with most of the fatalities occurring in the East and Northeast.

Death Toll Reaches 63

Harrisburg Pa. looked out from under 20 inches of snow, the heaviest in 16 years. Middletown, N.Y., reported 29 inches, southern New England a foot and as much as six inches covered areas as far south as Virginia.

Stinging winds whipped the snow into deep drifts over wide areas and thousands of workers were pressed into emergency service in an attempt to clear traffic arteries.

The presidential inauguration went off as scheduled in Washington but only after a small army of workers labored through the night to clear the streets.

Castro Makes Peace Offer To Kennedy

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro offered Friday night to "begin anew" a quest for peace with President Kennedy's administration. But the Cuban prime minister made clear it would be strictly on his own terms.

The main condition for reconciliation laid down by Castro was a total change in what he labeled a "mistaken and absurd" policy of the United States toward his Communist-oriented revolutionary regime.

While Castro was laying down peace terms in a two-hour speech to followers at the Presidential Palace, his fiery younger brother sounded a belligerent note in an address at Santiago.

Raul Castro, minister of Cuba's armed forces, told supporters that imperialist dangers still existed and vowed "20 Yankees" would fall for every militiaman killed in defense of Cuba.

Both Castros addressed civilian soldiers who are being partly demobilized after Cuba's three-week military alert against a "Yankee invasion" that never came.

But despite the presence of some 50,000 militiamen at the Presidential Palace to hear Fidel, hundreds of others remained on duty at key posts.

The bearded prime minister made it plain in his speech that no changes could be expected in his regime that might help open the door to the type of relations he desires with the new U.S. administration.

He suggested that all the difficulties existing between the two nations were due entirely to the policies of the Eisenhower administration. He asserted the change-over in Washington did not mean that the danger to Cuba or the world at large had disappeared.

Forged Ohio Securities Found

Authorities Probe Pike Bond Swindle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—How extensive is the Ohio turnpike bond swindle?

Banks and investment houses here and in the New York area are looking into their portfolios in the wake of Friday's revelation that the bonds with a face value totaling at least $65,000 were either counterfeit or suspected.

One block of $50,000 worth came to light here and another of the same total turned up in Cleveland. George H. Cutter, partner in Cutter, Bennett & Co., New York, said an employee of the firm that printed the genuine bonds confirmed that a block totaling $265,000 in denominations of $1,000 each uncovered there was spurious.

This represented only a small fraction of the $326 million worth issued to finance the 241-mile northern Ohio toll road, but it still promised to be a costly fraction to the institutions holding them.

President Leland A. Stoner of the Ohio National Bank here said there was no reason for any legitimate bondholder to be disturbed.

The counterfeiting was disclosed in a joint statement by Stoner and Chairman James W. Shocknessy of the Turnpike Commission saying:

"We have learned that some forged bonds, purportedly issued by the Ohio Turnpike Commission, have appeared on the New York financial market."

The statement added that the FBI and other government agencies concerned with those committing crimes involving national banks had been informed, and that it was expected the forgers would be apprehended.

The statement also attributed the counterfeiting to a "network of criminals operating throughout the United States, forging securities and counterfeiting currency."

Federal investigating agencies made no comment.

The original discovery of the forgeries was credited to Solomon

Bros. & Hutzler, New York investment bankers, after it had transferred one lot of $125,000 of the bonds to the Chemical Bank-New York Trust Co. earlier this week.

Tugmen Spurn Truce Plea

Rockefeller Move Blasted by Unions

SEW YORK (AP) — Striking railroad tugmen rejected early today Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's truce plea in the 12-day harbor walkout which has stalled commuters and imperiled city food and fuel supplies.

Negotiations recessed shortly before midnight Friday with a new meeting set for today.

Rockefeller had urged members of the three striking marine unions to join in a 10-day armistice "in the interest of the people of the City and the State of New York."

The unions wired the governor that the truce was "unacceptable" because "it only serves the interests of the railroads and is against the interest of all railroad employees and their families."

In another telegram to the New York City Central Labor Council, the unions said Rockefeller's plea was "a danger to accepted collective bargaining procedures affecting the entire trade union movement."

The walkout now revolves around railroad demands for eventual reduction in the size of five-man crews aboard their 51 harbor tugs.

The unions — the International Seafarers Union, the Marine Engineers Association, and the Master, Mates and Pilots Union — demand that crews stay at present strength.

The tugboat workers — 660 of them — have managed with skinny picket lines to tie up the New York Central Railroad as far west as Cleveland, the New Haven between Boston and New York, and railroad ferry service from New Jersey.

Trainmen are not directly involved in the work crew dispute between the tugmen and 11 railroad unions, but are honoring the marine union picket lines. About 100,000 commuters were stranded Friday.

Former Reporter Describes Event

Fuel- Drenched Plane Makes It Back Safely

The assignment was a routine air-to-air refueling mission over the fast reaches of the Pacific Ocean. The crew had done it many times before and it was almost routine, even for the navigator, First Lt. Carl A. Nandras, a former Salem News reporter who has been in the Air Force for the last 4 years.

But this recent flight was to be an exception and one long remembered by Lt. Nandras, who gives a personal testimony to the power of prayer in a situation where the faintest spark could have blown their plane to bits.

Carl, who is soon to re-join the editorial staff of The Salem News, dramatically describes the event as follows:

"The first half of the aerial refueling mission had been routine, and our KB-50J tanker now orbited rendezvous point 20,000 feet over the Pacific, some 900 nautical miles from the California coast on course to Hawaii.

"As navigator of the six-man

Eugene Young Named Farmers Bank Director

W. Eugene Young, Salem insurance executive, was elected a director of the Farmers National Bank at the bank's annual meeting Friday.

He succeeds Harold F. Wykoff, retired treasurer of the Youngstown Kitchens Division of American-Standard Corp., who had resigned earlier.

Other directors and officers of the bank were re-elected.

Mr. Young, a graduate of Salem High School, Denison University and Harvard Business School is a partner in Young and Merrill insurance agency. He and his wife, the former Virginia McKee, have two daughters. The family home is at 770 Highland Ave.

Bank President E. M. Stephenson, in announcing his election as a director, also made known the appointment of Harold W. Kepner as a member of the advisory board of the Farmers branch bank at Lisbon.

Mr. Kepner is treasurer of the Buckeye Coal Mining Co., Inc., of Lisbon. He and his wife, the former Alice Cole, reside on Alice St. in Lisbon.

Mr. Stephenson, in reviewing the year just ended, expressed optimism over the district's industrial expansion in the next few years. He cited the acquisition of several new industries and expansion in plant and production facilities by several established industries.

Mr. Stephenson said the bank enjoyed another fine year earning-wise and deposit-wise. Earnings increased over the 1959 figure and deposits reached $22,174,044, an all time year-end high.

In connection with other developments, Mr. Stephenson mentioned the action by the directors in transferring $100,000 from the undivided profits account to the bank's surplus account. This creates a new all-time high in the surplus account of $900,000, which together with the capital stock account of $600,000, makes the total of these two $1,500,000. He explained this action also increased the loan limit to any one borrower.

During the year the bank enlarged its quarters, establishing at its Salem building a new directors' room, private conference office, and a community meeting room for the use of the public.

Bank directors re-elected are Lester A. Bateman, F. M. Campbell, Walter F. Deming, George B. Emery, E. M. Jenkins, Harry Krohne, Louis A. Mattei, F. W. McKee, T. E. Miller, George Perreault, Dr. Gail A. Rose, Victor Zerbs, Sr., A. G. Tame, and E. M. Stephenson.

Fun Over, Kennedy Rolls Up Sleeves

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, his inaugural fun over, got down to work today with a staff conference and a private talk with an unexpected visitor—former President Harry S. Truman.

Although another round of merry-making occupied Kennedy into today's early morning hours, he was only a little bit late for his first scheduled activity. And before that he took time out to inspect the executive mansion into which he moved Friday.

He showed up for his first staff meeting as president about 15 away from the big home he once occupied.

The two posed for pictures and then went into the presidential offices for a private chat.

The staff meeting started a busy round of activities for Kennedy. He also had a luncheon date

Salem Man Marched In Taft Inaugural Parade

An elderly Salem man was taken back 51 years along memory lane while he was watching the frigid inauguration of John F. Kennedy Friday.

Dennis T. Callahan, 74, of 1842 Cleveland Ave., was a member of the Ohio National Guard Co. K, 8th Infantry representing Alliance in the inaugural parade for President William Howard Taft in 1909. Callahan remembers walking the five-mile parade route in a blizzard with about a foot of snow on the ground.

minutes later than the scheduled 9 a.m.

As that routine session ended, Truman strolled up the White House driveway in the course of a morning walk and a bareheaded Kennedy hurried out to greet him. It was Truman's second White House visit in as many days, after eight years of staying relatively good Russian.

Khrushchev did not waste any time getting in touch with the new president. He and President Leonid Brezhnev sent Kennedy a telegram Friday expressing hope "we can remove existing suspicion and distrust and grow the seed of friendship and business-like cooperation between our two peoples."

The Camp David spirit strangled with the U2 incident of May 1 last year. The long-projected Paris summit conference died before it began in mid-May when Khrushchev walked out, refusing to meet Eisenhower unless the U.S. president apologized and made amends. Eisenhower refused to bend.

Since then Khrushchev has repeated that he would not meet Eisenhower again, but would be glad to have talks with the next president.

The press has been full of expressions of hope that better political and commercial relations could be worked out between the two countries, although Khrushchev in his formal declarations on party policies has never minced words in indicating that he hopes to see the capitalist world, including America, come tumbling down.

The meeting between Thompson and the premier took place in the Kremlin.

Democrats to Draft Primary Slate Monday

The Salem Democratic party will hold an open meeting Monday night at 7:30 in the Memorial Building to draft a slate of candidates for the May primary election.

All interested persons are invited, announced City Chairman William Steffel.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, a Democrat, filed Wednesday for a fourth term bid.

Congressmen Tackle Domestic Bills Next Week

Inaugural Address Earns Acclaim From Democrats, GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate took up President Kennedy's Cabinet nominations one by one today, starting off with unanimous approval of Dean Rusk to be secretary of state.

The voice vote on confirmation followed warm praise of Rusk by both Democratic and Republican senators meeting in an unusual Saturday session.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, said that each of the 10 Cabinet nominations would be taken up separately, along with that of Adlai E. Stevenson, Kennedy's appointee as U. S. representative to the United Nations with the rank of ambassador.

Then next week the Senate will turn to Kennedy's domestic legislative program, taking up a bill to provide federal aid for areas plagued by chronic unemployment.

Senate committees already have conducted hearings on the various nominations and have recommended their confirmation.

Kennedy dazzled Republicans and Democrats alike with a 14-minute inaugural address Friday in which he told the world crisply that America will "pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty."

Kennedy did not deal in any specifics or recommend congressional action. That will come later presumably in a series of individual messages.

His inaugural talk drew approving comment from both Republicans and Democrats.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Kennedy's summation of America's position in the world was

Ike, Mamie Retire to 1st Private Home

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Dwight and Mamie Eisenhower, out of the White House less than a day, settled down today in the first private home they have ever known.

Throughout their married life, the Eisenhowers have always lived at temporary addresses. Some of them have been excellent ones, such as 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C., Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe and the President's Residence, Columbia University.

But wherever they have lived in the past, the Eisenhowers always knew a moving day would come.

Now, regardless of how far they may travel, an attractive white brick and fieldstone house with 14 bed rooms and 8 baths will always be home.

The Eisenhowers bought their farm on the edge of the Gettysburg Battlefield in 1950 and immediately began renovating the ancient house. The renovation was completed in 1955 at a cost of some $150,000. They spent their first night there in March, 1955.

James C. Hagerty, who served as Eisenhower's press secretary during his eight years in the White House, told newsmen then: "This is the first private house the President and Mrs. Eisenhower have ever known, and there will be no inspection of the house now or ever."

Most of the information the public has gotten about the Eisenhowers' life has come from the press.

Are Christians Getting Together?

Since this is The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity being observed by all Protestant denominations and Catholics it seems a good time to talk about this important matter.

You read last month of the Episcopalians, Methodists, Presbyterians and adherents of the Church of Christ talking about merging into one church of nearly twenty million members. They are going to call it the Catholic Reformed Church, I hear. This new name will probably confuse a lot of people. Seems like they could get a little clearer name like Christians United or United Christians. In Canada, for example, the merged church is called the United Church of Canada.

Well the name isn't the main thing. It is the trend that counts, and fortunately it is in the direction of Christians getting together. That's all to the good, for one thing is sure — we need badly to present a unified front against materialism in all its forms, especially Communism and paganism.

Lincoln said a house divided against itself cannot stand. I wonder if it isn't true that a church divided against itself cannot stand off Communism forever. Either we hang together as Christians, or there's quite a chance we could hang separately; if not, in fact, we could lose all we hold dear. Christianity has always been a cement holding our free society together. Disunity among Christians causes the cement to crack and break unless we vigilantly keep it in repair through a strong common faith.

PROTESTANTS HAVE BEEN working together very closely for a long time. There has been among them a strong feeling of unity without uniformity. They work and pray and plan together. But what they are shooting for now is organic unity bringing to an end the old denominations and blending them together into a new church. It will take some time to accomplish this, but no doubt it's on its way. It's the wave of the future, religiously speaking.

Whether Protestants and Catholics will ever get together in organic union is a horse of a different color. I doubt if you and I will ever see that. Actually there is room for differences in this world. Some people just naturally have Protestant minds and most likely wouldn't be happy in the Catholic Church. And some people have what is called the Catholic mind and they wouldn't be at home in the Protestant Church.

Some people believe in authority, others in freedom of interpretation. Some like ritual, some don't. Some are churchy, some are informal, and so on. Diversity is a fact of life. Maybe we ought to settle for two big divisions of Christianity, the Protestant and Catholic, each true to its convictions and traditions but working together in a spirit of unity and good will.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that Catholics and Protestants practicing love and understanding can have a sense of unity even though they belong to two historic churches. A few months ago in Jerusalem I visited the house of the high priest Caiaphas where Christ was tried on the night before His crucifixion.

Father Bernadine, the Catholic priest in charge, and I stood together in the dungeon where our Lord was undoubtedly held before being taken to Pilate. The priest said, "I know how you feel being in this holy place and I feel as you do. Let us say the Lord's Prayer together." We joined hands, Catholic and Protestant, priest and minister, and said the prayer which means so much to all Christians. It was a wonderful feeling of fellowship between us.

Catholics and Protestants have many great things in common. They have Almighty God and our Lord Jesus Christ and the same roots in Divine Revelation and in the Cross of Calvary. They both work for the redemption of mankind. They both oppose Communism and evil in all forms.

Both are dedicated to a spiritual view of life and to the rule of God in all affairs of men. The great issue of our time, put simply, is Christ or catastrophe. Protestants and Catholics stand shoulder to shoulder for Christ. Therefore they have a natural unity that goes deeper than any differences.

WHAT A HAPPY SYMBOL of this unity in Christ and against the common spiritual enemy was the recent meeting between the Primate of the Church of England and the Pope of Rome — Canterbury and Rome, symbols of two great branches of Christianity, meeting and talking as brother to brother — this is a happy promise for the future well being of mankind.

Let the forces of evil beware and tyranny tremble. The Church of Jesus Christ in its divisions isn't really divided, for it has a new sense of fellowship and unity and sacred purpose. And in this shall be witnessed again its ancient and apostolic power. It shall go forward singing: Crowns and thrones shall perish, Kingdoms rise and wane, But the Church of Jesus Constant will remain.

HEADS CHURCH OF ENGLAND — Queen Elizabeth II has named Dr. Arthur M. Ramsey, above, to succeed retiring Geoffrey F. Fisher as Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England.

A Boy Says Grace

"I thank thee, Father, for this food."

There is something very touching about a child saying grace. You feel that here is a small person who is really in communion with God. His earnest face filled with utter trust breathes the real spirit of thankfulness. He feels what he is saying.

And yet a prayer of thanks does not come naturally to a child. Just as he is taught to feed himself and brush his teeth and tie his shoe laces, so he must be taught to pray. Not taught exactly—but shown. He must be made aware of the loving Father's care.

Send your child to church school—take him to Church. There he will learn to recognize the presence of God in his life and to be grateful for the many blessings showered on him daily.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Kaiser Plan of Continuous Contact

Whatever merit is in the industrial relations plan worked out between Kaiser Steel Corp. and United Steelworkers of America lies in the provision for continuous contact, with management, the union and the public equally represented.

Every industrial relations scheme proposed in recent years has included some form of continuous contact, to avert the head-on collisions that precipitated deadlocks in the past. There are no sudden emergencies in industrial relations, but there have been too many sudden efforts to deal with long-standing problems grew into deadlocks.

Public interest was fanned to white heat by intensive propaganda drives, with both management and unions bombarding the public eye and ear with what each side claimed to be the whole truth and nothing but the truth. These drives would be done away with under more ideal circumstances. Continuous contact would reveal to both bargaining parties the advantages of balanced presentation, free from inflammatory charges.

Every steelworker, every steel company, every community geared to steel production and every consumer hopes the idea being tried by Kaiser Steel and United Steelworkers will work. After the 1959 steel strike, which never should have happened, there is everything to gain and nothing to lose by trying something new. Anything would be better than drifting into the kind of deadlock that tied up steel production for 116 days and produced the inventory chaos that has contributed so heavily to the current recession.

Americans Know About Liberating

Nikita Khrushchev, obligingly, has laid down the Communist Conspiracy line for all to see. The conspiracy will help all dissidents break away from established orders, unless the dissidents are trying to break away from Communist-dominated governments. It will be prepared to fight what are known as "brush-fire wars," in addition to its "wars of liberation." And it will be prepared to fight nuclear wars, too, though it will try to avoid them because too many people would be killed.

All things considered, the conspiracy would prefer to pursue its conspiratorial aims in an atmosphere of peace. But whenever subversion and plotting fail, it will use force. It also will use force whenever it is thwarted by non-Communist government—whatever degree of force may be necessary. This could be a little or a lot. In Korea, it was a lot. In Hungary, it was a little.

The essence of the Soviet premier's official statement, which has appeared in the magazine Kommunist, is that the Communist conspiracy will follow a line midway between Russian coexistence and Chinese belligerence. It will be ready to fight but not eager. It will be aggressive but not pugilistic. It will not assume at the outset that military destruction is inevitable, but neither will it assume that military action must be avoided at all costs.

Active Kiwanians

As Kiwanis International marked its 46th anniversary this week, the Salem club observed its own 39th birthday, pausing to review the many civic events in which the club has participated.

The Kiwanians can be justly proud of their achievements, which include 35 years of rewarding effort to improve Centennial Park where the club built two shelters and spearheaded the successful swimming pool drive, not to mention park beautification and other projects.

Kiwanis' continual work in child welfare is known to most of the public which also looks forward annually to the good home talent entertainment offered in the Kiwanis Kapers show.

Whether it be the 39th anniversary or the 50th, the occasion will find the Kiwanians contributing vigorously to Salem's betterment.

Good Library Service

Book circulation and the number of borrowers increased again at the Salem Public Library during 1960. Gains have been noted in preceding years, evidencing widespread interest by the public — both adult and juvenile — in what the library has to offer to the community.

The favorable report for the last calendar year, which showed a total of 131,030 books circulated among 6,584 borrowers, represented a gain of 19 per cent in circulation and 599 new patrons. The library board made a special effort during the year to enlarge and modernize the children's library section and expand its book purchases to the extent that funds permitted. Over-all book purchases amounted to 1,793 with 135 more back ordered. Total bookstock is 45,939 volumes.

The library board of trustees always keeps before it the objective of providing the books and the service the public wants. Perhaps you have a suggestion. Why not tell the librarian next time you drop in.

Once Over

A farewell to Ike: Happy going from here on, valiant, thoughtful, kindly leader through eight years of terrific burdens. Nobody deserves a rest more. From the "I Like Ike" buttons to the "Kennedy and New Frontiers" banners you gave your best.

You stood out as a President whose top desire was peace and the survival of civilization. You were no topblower in crisis. You put humanity ahead of hasty decisions, dramatic utterances, and scene chewing.

Few American presidents had it tougher. You kept your head, flung no insults, did no squawking. Serious illness struck you twice. They might have caused most men to take it easy and keep the doctor near.

You looked affliction in the face and told it where to go. Yours was the valor that led to victory across the channel and across Europe. Your impulses as President were tempered by memory of the dead, the maimed, the toppled cities and ruined villages.

You made mistakes. So did Washington, Jefferson and Abe Lincoln. You were always in there trying. Your advice will be respected in retirement. "What does Ike think about this?" will be asked often.

So, with headaches lifted, have fun. Enjoy the farm. Play golf without Khrush or Mao putting a Chinese-Russian curse on your backswing.

Even your severest critics wish you well. You will live as a President wholly free from bunk and baloney.

There was nothing of the demagogue about you any place, anywhere, any time. So enjoy a complete escape from unprecedented burdens. You have had it, Ike.

The hearty best wishes of all Americans,

The State Department is seeking $954,000 to ease the course of diplomacy with good food and drink during the next fiscal year.

The watered down request for what the department calls "representation allowance" and some congressmen call "whisky money" will probably be "sweetened" considerably by the Kennedy administration.

For the current fiscal year, Congress provided $850,000 for the fund, used to reimburse foreign service officers for the expenses of entertaining in the interest of the United States.

The budget submitted to Congress notes that the State Department will ask for an additional $26,000 for the current fiscal year to take care of unanticipated entertainment expenses in the newly emerging countries of Africa.

That will make the total for this year $876,000.

JOHN F. KENNEDY has expressed concern that the low level of such funds makes it impossible to appoint men of limited means to diplomatic posts requiring large expenditures.

He recently discussed the matter in Palm Beach with Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y., chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee that handles the State Department fund requests.

Rep. Rooney has soberly promised only that he and his committee members will give the requests a "fair hearing."

Like Sprites

By TRUMAN TWILL

If television brought me nothing but the dancing, I'd still call it a bargain. Dancing sends me the most.

When it used to be part of my job to tell what vaudeville bills contained when they changed at local theaters, I always pulled out the stops for hoofers and grappers. Especially grappers.

If I were a dancer, I'd be a grapper. Adagio, they call it. Where the girl trips gracefully across the stage, gives a little leap and there she is — with her legs locked around the guy's neck, choking him.

When I was younger and before there were children around, the girl I married got a bang out of practicing a simple jump into my arms, after a sprint across the room. We were doing fine until my legs buckled one time. She got too much of a bang out of that. Took stitches.

But always I have this soft place in my head for dancers, especially adagio dancers. Everything they do is graceful, controlled, poised and suggestive of hidden power. Everything we nondancers do, on the other hand, looks flat-footed, spastic, awkward and like the effort was killing us.

Whenever I tried to dance, I had three left feet, the better to step on you, excuse me, if it was ballroom dancing, which was the extent of my terpsichorean training. After being encouraged by a couple of squeezable maids it was fun to hold around the waist under any circumstances. I mastered a coyote version of a fox trot.

It wasn't much, but I got around; I went through the motions of dancing. That was my limit. Acrobatic steps, like the ones that still keep coming along, were out of my depth. It was that third left foot.

What makes it tough is that I've always had my own Irene Castle to make dancing easy, but it doesn't help me. She can pick up any maneuver by watching someone else do it, but I could watch until I went blind and I'd still have three left feet.

Hence, this extraordinary gratitude for dancing on television. I never miss a step. I leap and squirm with the tappers and sugar-foot with the tappers and shufflers. Even the precious precocities who dead-pen through the ballet gyrations seem to me the most wonderful creatures alive — supernatural.

I'd save boxtops for 10 years to learn how to throw a femme to the floor and spin her around on her pads the way they're always doing in the adagio numbers. I'd rather try that than the one where the girl flies through the air and nabs your neck between her gams — kerunch! Some of those dolls look too hefty for that kind of roughhousing. I have a picture of their dancing partners going to bed with heating pads on all their sprainable ligaments.

But mostly the picture I have is me, doing the intricate steps flawlessly, whirling, leaping, flailing my arms and flaring my nostrils while waiting for HER to sprint across the stage and perch atop my head on one foot, like Mercury ready to blast off.

I watch the TV dancers by the hour. I never tire. Sometimes they louse up the act with singing but the dancing is all that counts ever. I suppose dancers look like anyone else off the stage. I saw a couple last June off the stage and they looked close to raunchy. But later on I saw one of them — the girl — on television and she flew around like a sprite. Wonderful! Marvellous! Magnifique! Like so ... taste, ta, ta.

A Familiar Refrain

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Labor Writer Attacks 'One-Party' Press

In a recent issue of the AFL-CIO News a speech by Guy Nunn is reported in which he bitterly complains about an alleged monopoly of the sources of information by interests opposed to labor and its political programs and ideas.

It is the familiar refrain after a national election—that there is a "one-party" press, committed to opposition to the "liberal" programs of the political unions and favoring the Republican ticket in national elections.

In the light of the record, Nunn should be the last person to make such a complaint. He is the voice of Walter Reuther over the airwaves in Michigan. His title is director of the United Auto Workers' Radio-Television Department.

For some years he has been a twice-daily commentator on the "news" for that agency, reaching substantially the entire population of the state. His "news" is heavily weighted with partisan and extreme propaganda.

No Michigan newspaper, nor all the newspapers there combined, can rival the continuous barrage of his loaded news but he is not satisfied with this power. He describes the labor unions as the helpless victim of a news monopoly.

Nunn's first complaint in his speech is about the death of the Detroit Times. He blames this on the newspaper tycoons. It was, he says, "an act of almost calculated cruelty."

NO ONE will deny that the death of a metropolitan newspaper is a tragic matter. It is a cruel blow to many employees. But it is not "calculated" to hurt anyone.

The tremendous costs of running a newspaper—costs largely attributable to higher wages for employees brought about the power of the unions—makes it increasingly difficult to maintain morning competition in the field.

What we have witnessed in the past half century is a reduction in the number of newspapers because of inexorable economic conditions, just as there has been concentration in many other lines of business.

As was abundantly shown in the last presidential campaign, there was no "monopoly" of news advantages for the Republican ticket in the nation's press.

While editorial support of the daily newspapers themselves generally leaned to Nixon-Lodge, there certainly was no disadvantage to Kennedy-Johnson in the news. More than half of the signed columnists and commentators leaned toward the Kennedy-Johnson side.

I would estimate that considerably more than 60 per cent of the writers of the news hoped for a Kennedy victory and indicated that preference in their coverage.

All three national news magazines predicted the election of Kennedy well before the election on the basis of reports from the working press in the various states. And in its effect that was a big boost to the Kennedy chances. Even then, the reports on states were in detail quite full of errors.

A considerable part of the Washington press corps preferred Kennedy to Nixon, and that helped.

WE HAVE only to look back on the Roosevelt regime, during which the President complained bitterly and continuously about the predominance of editorial opposition to him. But the working press, especially those participating in his press conferences, fell under the spell of his personality.

Despite these advantages, Nunn argues for more strength in the labor press—in which, incidentally, there is no deviation from the aims of labor in the stated news. To give space and employment to an opposition voice there is as unthinkable as the presence of an Armour or Swift advertisement in a vegetarian journal.

Nunn suggests that to counteract the "antilabor monopoly" there should be assessed against every union member the sum of $10 a year, as a "modest and workable" start in labor communication.

There is no compulsion on the part of any citizen to patronize the "capitalistic" newspapers. But the labor papers, of which there are many with large circulations, are supported by dues-paying members, regardless of their personal politics or preferences.

Considering the successes of the political agencies of the unions in electing members of Congress, Nunn's complaint comes with poor grace.

Kennedy's First Tests

By JAY G. HAYDEN

President Kennedy's first international tests clearly will focus around the two very different countries of Cuba and Laos.

Cuba is right on America's doorstep. Especially since its relief from Spanish rule by American arms, it has been in the nature of a U.S. ward, including retention on its soil by mutual consent of the Guantanamo Naval Base, now especially important as an easterly protection of the Panama Canal.

In the face of Russia's new and steadily growing interest in Cuba, including the entry of Soviet weapons and technicians, there has been virtually no difference in American thinking leading up to the now complete break in diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Kennedy, beyond the slightest doubt, will continue the Eisenhower line, only more so.

Laos is different in that the Eisenhower policy regarding it — right now more porous than ever before — long has been questioned by both U.S. Democrats and our foreign allies.

At the end of the Korean War in 1953, U.S. Far Eastern policy came under immediate direction of the assistant secretary of state, Walter S. Robertson, violently committed to the notion that non-Communists — meaning adherents of Chiang Kai-shek — eventually must be restored to control of the Asian mainland. And J. Graham Parsons, successor to Robertson and chief architect of U.S. government policy in Laos is of that same mind.

IN CONTRAST, the British, French and other American allies long have been doubtful as to the soundness of U.S. policies in that region.

Fearful of possible effects on their neighboring colonies, Britain's Hong Kong and Singapore and France's Indo-China, those countries wavered in enthusiasm concerning the Korean War. And they have been much less keen regarding American insistence on defense of the islands of Quemoy and Matsu, next to the Chinese mainland on the road to Formosa.

The British, especially, have indicated doubt in the American adoption, as wards, of South Vietnam and Laos, among leftovers from the Indo-Chinese collapse, with the avowed aim of barring any Communist expansion in that direction even at the expense of outright war.

Leaders of the Democratic party in the United States have shown a tendency toward the British-French attitude.

President Eisenhower's initial request in 1955 for advance congressional backing for defense of Formosa and the Pescadores, including Quemoy and Matsu provisionally, was approved by the House unanimously and by the Senate, 85 to 3.

By 1958, in face of a savage Chinese Communist attack on Quemoy and Matsu, there was a considerable shift in the American political attitude. Even before fighting over the islands became serious, Britain urged strongly that the United States should force Chiang Kai-shek to surrender the beleaguered coastal islands.

Leading Democrats in the U.S. were not far behind. The climax was reached when Theodore F. Green, D-R.I., former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee demanded of the President that he call Congress into special session to deal with the crisis.

Many U.S. newspapers and the two biggest American radio networks joined in the chorus. One commentator branded Secretary of State Dulles's policy as "a matter of dangerous brinkmanship."

EISENHOWER stood fast and the Chinese Communists eventually backed away but not before Republicans had suffered their greatest congressional setback in 20 years.

In the 1960 presidential campaign one of the highpoints was Kennedy's expression of doubt as to the wisdom of hanging on to Quemoy and Matsu.

Many people believe the present upheaval in Laos was set off by Kennedy's statement as a sort of feeling-out process — and if the Laos trouble continues it certainly will not be long before members of Congress will begin expressing different views concerning it.

Clearly, Mr. Kennedy finds this problem first on his desk as he takes over the White House.

Kennedy Adds Bible to Ones Treasured In U.S. History

By VYLLA POE WILSON

John F. Kennedy added another Bible to the ones treasured in the history of the United States when he placed his hand on the Kennedy family Bible to take the oath of office as President of the United States. The Bible is a Douai translation.

One of our nation's most precious possessions, the Bible on which George Washington took the oath of office as first President of the United States in New York City April 30, 1789, was used by Dwight D. Eisenhower for his first inaugural ceremony. The Bible is the sacred trust of St. John's Masonic Lodge, in New York City. It has been brought to Washington three times under armed guard—for the dedication of the Washington Monument in 1885 and for the inauguration of Warren G. Harding and Eisenhower.

scheduled with the National Democratic Committee.

If the Senate gives quick approval to Kennedy's Cabinet selections, they will be sworn in at a White House ceremony late today.

And tonight Kennedy is to be honor guest at a dinner of the Alfalfa Club, a fun-loving social organization.

You'd think, after the pace Kennedy has been keeping these past few days, that he'd be ready for a quiet evening in his new home. But that doesn't take into account the amazing Kennedy energy.

His inauguration day offered a perfect example.

After his inaugural address, he watched the big parade in his honor that went on and on until 6:14 p.m., a full hour after darkness had fallen.

Since it was bitter cold, and the wind made it seem even colder, most of the spectators, including those who paid $25 apiece for their seats, fled to warmer havens.

Kennedy not only stayed through every minute of it, he seemed really to enjoy it.

He got a bang out of a Buffalo Bill type character who rode a buffalo in the parade.

He admired the PT-boat similar to the one he once commanded. He clapped and grinned and doffed his high silk hat and, when it was over, said "It was wonderful."

Then Friday night Kennedy really had himself a ball.

The crowds were so huge that the ball was scattered over five sites.

Kennedy went to them all. Mrs. Kennedy gave up at a fairly decent hour and went home.

Kennedy scurried right ahead, as if racing around town from one ballroom to another was the finest sport in the world. Indeed, he said so.

"I think this is a wonderful way to spend an evening," Kennedy said at one o'clock in the morning. "I hope we can all meet here tomorrow night at the same place at 1 a.m. and do it all over again."

Then he hustled away to another ballroom.

Possibly the highlight of the evening was his visit to the huge National Guard Armory.

President and Mrs. Kennedy and Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sat in a box overlooking a floor so big 100-yard dashes can be run in a straightaway with plenty of room to spare.

Some of the spectators, who paid from $25 to $40 each for tickets, were so far away they could scarcely tell which was Kennedy and which was Johnson.

And there was little dancing, just standing, although many enjoyed the evening by sipping champagne out of all things—paper cups.

Nearly everyone else in Washington, worn out by a big day, beat his way home through the snow and went to bed.

But around 2 a.m. Kennedy dropped by the home of columnist Joseph Alsop—and joined another party.

Eisenhower also used the Bible given him by his mother when he entered West Point at both his first and second inaugurations.

Harry S. Truman placed his hand on the page containing the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20:3-17, in his mother's Bible when he was inaugurated for a second term. Truman used a closed Bible from the White House library when he was sworn in as President after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

THE ROOSEVELT family Bible—printed in Dutch in Holland in 1680 was open at I Corinthians 13 beginning with "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal..." at all four inaugurations of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt took personal charge of the Bible in transit to the inaugural scene. He arranged a piece of cellophane across the page with an opening for his hand when he took the oath. It was a happy precaution. At his second inauguration the rain ran down his upraised arm and splattered on the page.

A special place in history must be accorded the family Bible of Calvin Coolidge. It was used when he was sworn in as president by his father, John Calvin Coolidge, justice of the peace in a Vermont farm house after the death of Warren G. Harding.

The Bible had been well read and marked by Coolidge's late mother, Victoria Josephine Coolidge.

Coolidge solemnly turned the pages to St. John 1:1 beginning with the words, "In the beginning was the word and the word was with God, and the word was God..." he used this Bible and the same passage for his inauguration for a second term.

"Oh take not the word of thy truth out of my mouth, for my hope is in thy judgments." "My hands also will lift up unto thy commandments, which I have loved, and my study shall be in thy statutes."

THESE VERSES from Psalm 119 were selected by the first Mrs. Wilson from her Bible for use at the first inauguration of Woodrow Wilson, March 4, 1913.

Wilson also used the small Bible for his second inauguration. He spread his hand on Psalm 46 considered most appropriate in those stressful days. It reads: "God is our hope and strength, a very present help in trouble."

Eliza Ballou Garfield, widowed mother of James A. Garfield, watched her son take the oath of office on the Bible she had prescribed to him when he was a small lad, with his finger on her favorite verse: "The king's heart is in the hand of the Lord, he turneth it whithersoever he will." (Proverbs 21:1)

Grover Cleveland, scion of five generations of clergymen, was sworn in as President of the United States on the Bible presented to him by his mother Anne Neale Cleveland when he taught his first Sunday School class. He took his oath of office on Psalm 112 which begins, "Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord; he hath great delight in his commandments."

The Harrison family is in possession of the Bible used by Benjamin Harrison for his inaugural oath. Harrison noted and put his initials on the verses in Proverbs 121 which he touched as he repeated the presidential oath. They read "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help?" "So that the sun shall not burn thee by day, neither the moon by night."

It is regrettable that all the Bibles used by all the presidents for the presidential oath are not written in historical records. Those that are certainly make interesting items of Americana.

senhower home as come from persons who have been guests there.

A glassed-in sun porch overlooks the Civil War battlefield. Some of the world's leading figures have chatted with Eisenhower there.

Another item is a white marble mantle in the living room. It was installed in the White House in 1854 and removed during the administration of Chester Arthur. Located in a second-hand store several years ago, the White House staff bought it and presented it to the Eisenhowers on their 38th wedding anniversary.

An indication of the feeling the Eisenhowers have about their home is the fact that he will not have an office there. Instead, he is setting up an office in a house on the campus of Gettysburg College.

The Eisenhowers reached home at 5:52 p.m. Friday after an automobile trip of two hours and 20 minutes from Washington, for the first time without a Secret Service and police escort.

Roads made hazardous by the heavy snow, a stop to take off chains, and several slow-downs to acknowledge greetings from roadside wellwishers accounted for the longer than usual travel time.

Gettysburgers, who in the past have respected the Eisenhowers' wishes for privacy, will give them a big "welcome home" tonight. They will be guests at a dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg. Since only about 200 tickets are available, there will be a public ceremony on the town square before the dinner.

Plane

ger and death took hold of the crew.

"In the next 30 seconds, many thoughts ran through my mind. Then I prayed the shortest and most sincere prayer of my life, for our aircraft commander was screaming over the interphone for our present position and the heading and ETA back to our California base. The two fighters were told to return to California, also.

"Needless to say, the three-hour flight back was long and precarious, for a mere spark would have set off an explosion big enough to blow the tanker out of the sky. During the trip back, I had time to survey my life and visualize how quickly it could be terminated. A more lengthy prayer was then silently said by me as we headed eastward.

"The tanker reached home base, was landed, and immediately stopped on a taxiway, with all six crewmen hastily departing the scene between precautionary firemen, fire trucks and ambulances.

"It was then that I knew I was safe, and that my prayers must have had something to do with it. But an awakening thought also occurred to me that it had to take a frightening look at death to really open my eyes to the wonderful Guardian we always have in God through Jesus Christ."

"a very compact message of hope," Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House minority leader, was "much impressed."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called Kennedy's talk "magnificent." Assistant Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said the new President had laid out a blueprint for "an administration of vitality."

Robert F. Kennedy, his brother's choice for attorney general, thought the message "touched everybody." Adlai Stevenson, nominee for ambassador to the United Nations, said the new President had "reaffirmed our dedication to our own freedom and to freedom around the world."

Kennedy sent the formal nominations for his 10 cabinet members and that of Stevenson to the Senate shortly after he took the presidential oath. Republicans were amused that a White House clerk forgetfully had stamped their copies with the signature of the retiring president, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As he had done before, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., objected to action on the appointments until reports could be made available by committees which held advance hearings on the nominations.

Niles Becomes Salem's Eighth Straight Victim, 69-47

Ted Thorne Notches 21 Points, Paces Big Third Quarter Rally

Pesky Red Dragons Give Quakers Rough Battle in First Two Periods

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

A small but scrappy Niles cage squad gave the Salem Quakers all they could handle for two periods here last night before Coach John Cabas' powerhouse rallied behind juniors Ted Thorne and Bob Eskay in the third period to rack up their eighth consecutive victory, 69-47.

Leading by just 14-13 at the close of the first period and 28-24 at halftime, the Quakers exploded for 27 points in the third period and won going away.

Thorne, held to just three free throws in the first half, hit for five straight goals in the third quarter and added three charity tosses for 13 points in the period. The 6-5 1/2 junior, easily the most improved player on the squad, collected five more points in the fourth quarter to give him high point honors for the night with 21.

ESKAY RAMMED HOME nine points in the third period to wind up with 17 for the evening.

Niles did a fine job of defending the Quakers' leading scorer, Don Davidson, holding the 6-5 senior to just 11 points. The Red Dragons were all over Davidson everytime he got the ball, their close guarding kept pushing him farther and farther outside. The big boy was able to get off only 10 shots in the entire game. Four of the attempts found their mark.

It was Davidson and Eskay hitting from outside that kept the Salem offense from bogging down completely in the first half. Davidson had nine points and Eskay eight in the first two periods.

Still, it was at the foul line that the Quakers won the game. Niles' strategy seemed to be to sacrifice the fouls to stop the Quakers from driving. Officials John Russ of Youngstown and Matt Wansack of Campbell called 25 fouls on Niles and only eight on Salem.

The Quakers converted 29 of the 40 charity throws while the Red Dragons hit only five of 12 free throws.

NILES OUTSCORED Salem from the floor, 21 goals to 20. The Quakers did lose several baskets, however, when they were pushed around by the Niles defenders just before they got their shots away.

Dick Rinduss, 6-0 senior, who like Salem's Davidson is the only letterwinner on his squad, had a fine first half for Niles, scoring 11 points. He cooled off in the second half and wound up with 13 markers, tops for the Red Dragons.

Rinduss was one of three Niles players to foul out of the game. He and 6-0 junior Carmen Vivolo both fouled out near the end of the game. However, Tom Grainger, the tallest starter on the squad at 6-2, was forced to depart early in the third quarter and his loss left the Red Dragons in serious trouble on the boards.

In the first half, the smaller Niles cagers were outbounding the Quakers. The Red Dragons got 11 more shots at the hoop than did the Quakers in the first two periods.

TURNOVERS on bad passes by the Quakers and some fine jump shooting by Rinduss and 5-9 junior Richard Sygar allowed the Red Dragons to outplay Salem in the first quarter.

Salem was outscored 10 goals to eight in the first half but had a 12-4 edge on fouls which left the locals with a 28-24 halftime lead.

In the third quarter the Quakers started to work their patterns better and Thorne, not by accident, found himself open under the hoop. His mates hit him well with their passes.

The lanky junior worked for his buckets. One of his goals during his hot streak in the third quarter was a beautiful over-the-shoulder shot as he was moving out from under the hoop. Thorne did another outstanding job on the boards, pulling off 13 missed shots.

OVERLOOKED BY MANY was the great job of rebounding done by 6-0 sophomore Bill Beery. Beery was slightly below par in his shooting and ball handling last night but he was little short of sensational on the boards. The jumping Jack cleared the boards 17 times to lead both teams in that department.

In shooting percentages from the field last night, Salem hit 20 of 51 attempts for a 39.2 mark while Niles hit 21 of 60 shots for a percentage of 35. With reserves playing much of the fourth quarter for Salem, the Quakers hit on only three of 18 shots which pulled down their percentage.

Niles' popular coach Joe Bassett, said he is pleased with the way his team is improving. He said his young squad has cut down sharply the number of turnovers it makes in a game.

BASSETT SAID it was Salem's height that hurt his team most last night. "It was just a matter of time," he commented. "I didn't realize just how big that Thorne was until I stood beside him. Salem has another fine ball club."

Coach Cabas said he was glad to see his team win as convincingly as it did despite the fact that it didn't experience a very hot night. He also pointed out that Salem was able to work the ball in on several occasions while Niles fired mostly from outside.

Most Niles observers at the game here agreed that the Red Dragons played one of their best games. The Red Dragons looked like a better ball club than their 1-9 record indicates.

Salem's victory was its ninth in 11 games. The Quakers will be in action again next week when they entertain Wellsville on Friday and then play host to a strong Akron South quintet on Saturday.

Minerva Shakes Blue Devil Stall

Lions Win 42-30

Minerva Shakes Blue Devil Stall

Winless Lisbon employed stalling tactics last night but to no avail as the league-leading Minerva Lions emerged a 42-30 victor in a Tri-County League tilt played on the Blue Devil court before a jammed in crowd.

The triumph gave the Lions a 6-0 loop record and a 9-1 season mark. Coach Gary Pike's Lisbon five suffered its sixth straight loss in league competition and 10th consecutive defeat on the season.

Lisbon used the stall very effectively in the first half as they set up a five man weave against Minerva's man-to-man defense and just waited to spring somebody free.

WHEN THE LIONS were in a man-to-man defense the Blue Devils could run with them and score but when Minerva switched to a zone the Lisbon five was stymied.

Neither team took more than six shots in the first period as Minerva grabbed a 4-2 margin. In the second canto the scoring opened up a little with the Lions hitting for 12 points and the Blue Devils cashing in on 11.

In the third stanza the Minerva quintet threw up their own defense on the surprising Lisbon aggregation as they outscored the home team, 13-5 to take a 29-18 lead into the final period.

The fourth period was nip-and-tuck with the Lions dropping in 13 points and Lisbon canning 12 points.

LISBON WAS A BETTER ball handling team than they have been all season and Roger McCaughin was driving a good deal. He was a thorn in the Lions' side all night.

Lisbon hit on 10 of 16 from the foul line for 62.5 per cent while Minerva hit 57.1 per cent, canning 12 of 21.

Pacing Lisbon was McCaughin with six of 13 from the field and seven of nine from the free throw line on a total of 19 tallies.

Big Don Miller pumped in 17 points to lead the Minerva five and take the Tri-County scoring lead from East Palestine's Jim Hartshorn by one point. Hartshorn scored 16 points Friday against Sebring. Miller and Hartshorn will tonight on the Minerva floor.

Minerva copped the reserve tilt, 42-33.

Schaffer Scores 24 for United

Salineville's Indians came from behind last night to pin a 59-54 defeat on the United Local Golden Eagles in a contest played at Salineville.

Coach Dick Jones' crew enhanced its record to 5-6 while the United five suffered its ninth setback in 11 starts.

Salineville started out on the right foot jumping to a one point first period margin, 14-13. However, the Golden Eagles had other ideas as they forged to a 25-24 halftime lead, mainly on the scoring of Jerry Schaffer who pumped in eight points in the quarter.

The game was knotted three times during the second eight minutes.

IN THE THIRD STANZA the United quintet kept the points pouring in as they outscored the Indians, 20-16 to move into a 45-40 quarter lead. Hanna was the big gun in the canto for United as he netted eight tallies.

The roof caved in on the Golden Eagles in the fourth period. With six minutes to go and United in command, 54-40 the Salineville quintet erupted as they burned the hoops for 19 markers while the bewildered Golden Eagles canned only four tallies in the remaining minutes.

SALENEVILLE SCORED 11 points on free throws in the final period and was helped to victory when Mayer and John Hanna fouled out of the game for United in the waning minutes of the fourth period.

The Indians could not miss from the foul stripe as they meshed 27 of 34 attempts for high percentage of 79.4. United caged '4 of 27 from the free throw line for 51.8 per cent.

Schaffer, the fourth highest leading scorer in the county with 153 points and a 15.3 average, paced the United offense with 24 points.

Ron Giannone took high point honors for the Indians with 18 markers. He was followed by Paul Kelley with 15.

Collins, Kroll Pace Golf Field

42 Break Par In Bing Crosby Event

PEBBLE BACH, Calif. (AP) — The lowest scoring field in the 20-year history of the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament today challenged co-leaders Bill Collins and Ted Kroll in the third round of play.

Collins of Baltimore and Kroll of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. grabbed the midway lead Friday with scores of 135, 9-under par for 36 holes. The 210-pound Collins fired a 68 over the Cypress Point course while Kroll carded a 6-under-par 66 over Monterey Peninsula Country Club's course.

Forty-two of the 150 competing pros broke par for the two rounds with five others at even-par 144. In the past, no more than 20 golfers have gone 36 holes below par.

Former PGA champion Bob Rosburg entered the third round just a stroke off the pace with a 69-67-136. Deadlocked at 137 were Jack Burke with 68-69, Dave Hill 67-70 and the first-round leader Bob Goalby, with 66-71.

Arnold Palmer, Golfer of the Year in 1960, hit his tee shot on the first hole out of bounds but came back for a 4-under-par 68 and a 138 total. Ken Venturi, the defending champion, also was there with 67-71 along with Mexico City's Roberto de Vicenzo 72-66 and Dick Stranahan 69-69.

In the pro-amateur division, the team of Dow Finsterwald and former Walker Cup amateur Fred Kammer of Grosse Pointe, Mich., led after two rounds with a best ball score of 60-64-124.

Four teams were deadlocked a stroke back—Mason Rudolph and Curtis Person; Jack Burke and George Coleman Jr.; Dick Stranahan and Bob Vaillancourt, and Wes Ellis with Frank Ratum Jr. The team scores include the amateur's handicaps.

Warriors Suffer First Loss

Canfield Gains Revenge By Blasting West Branch, 61-51

Canfield avenged an earlier season loss and possibly salted away the Turnpike Conference cage crown as they belted previously unbeaten West Branch, 61-51, last night on the Canfield court.

The Cardinals are now 2-0 in conference play and 7-4 on the season. Several weeks ago the Warriors handed Canfield a 57-55 defeat at West Branch in a game that did not count in league standings. Only the second game counts if the teams meet twice in the season.

West Branch is now 1-1 in loop competition and 8-1 on the season. The encounter began as a repeat of the first meeting between the two powerhouses as the tilt was close for the first four minutes but a Canfield spurt moved them into a 12-9 initial period lead.

AFTER THE FIRST PERIOD the Cardinals led for the entire game and were in command with three and five point margins throughout. The second period was all even as both aggregations drilled in 11 markers but the West Branch five still trailed by three, 23-20 at intermission.

In the third canto the Cardinals really poured it on as they canned 20 markers while the West Branch quintet managed 11 to fall further behind by 12 points going into the final quarter.

CANFIELD KEPT the 12-point margin in the fourth period and with 3:04 remaining the Warriors were behind, 51-39. When the three minute mark came the West Branch crew chopped off two points but they were out of contention as they were 10 tallies behind, 59-49.

West Branch had its best quarter of the night as they peppered the nets for 20 points in the final eight minutes while the Canfield aggregation accumulated 18 but the Cardinals had the game iced in the third period.

Chuck Wilson and Tom Baxter accounted for eight markers apiece in the fourth quarter for the Warriors.

WEST BRANCH HIT on 21 of 57 shots from the field for a percentage of 36.8 and nine of 16 were dropped in at the foul line for 56.2 per cent.

Canfield meshed 37.7 per cent of its field goal attempts by canning 23 of 61 and dumped in 14 of 18 from the charity stripe for a hot 77.7 per cent.

Probably the story of the game is told in the rebounding department as the tall Canfield five grabbed off 43 missed balls while West Branch was limited to only 26 rebounds.

Wilson featured for West Branch with 10 fielders for 20 points.

Bill Alcott racked up 18 tallies to pace the Canfield quintet.

The West Branch JV's lost their second game in the Canfield reserves, 50-35. The Warrior JV's are 7-2 on the season.

Dick Barnhart was the next highest scorer for the Beavers with 18, and Jim Pike added 15 to the victors' total.

Ron Nolan paced the losers with 22. Mickey Staley netted 14 for the visitors.

The Beavers now have a season record of 7-2.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Preston Powell, a 6-foot-2 Grambling University star who weighs 230 and has sufficient speed to be either a halfback or fullback, has signed a 1961 contract with the Cleveland Browns.

Powell was the Browns' seventh choice in last month's National Football League draft. Two other draftees had signed prior to Friday — Bob Crespin, Mississippi halfback, and the Browns first pick, and halfback Billy Gault of Texas Christian, the 13th choice.

Rich Harrold Nets 30

Clippers Drop Leetonia, 66-54, for Eight Win

Rich Harrold was hotter than a firecracker last night as he poured in 30 markers to lead the Columbiana Clippers to a hard-earned, 66-54 triumph over the Leetonia Bears in a Tri-County League game at Clippertown.

Columbiana captured its fifth win in six league outings and is now 8-2 on the season. The Bears dropped their fifth game in loop competition against one win and now sport a 3-7 overall record.

Leetonia is making a habit out of giving the top teams in the Tri-County fits as they held the Clippers to a 16-16 first period tie.

Last Saturday the Bears extended league-leading Minerva before finally losing in the final period.

In the second eight minutes Columbiana meshed 14 tallies while the Bears found the range for 11 markers to fall behind by three, 30-27, at halftime.

DURING THE FIRST two quarters the ball game was tied on six different occasions.

Columbiana got right back on the beam in the third stanza as they peppered the hoops for 19 markers, four more than Leetonia, to take a seven point lead into the fourth canto, 49-42.

High scoring Gary Perkins entered the game for the first time in the second period, replacing Dale Murphy who fouled out. The appearance of Perkins was the first since he sprained his ankle against Minerva last Friday.

The steady scoring of the Clippers kept right on target as they canned 17 markers in the fourth quarter to ice the contest as Leetonia hit for 12 points to drop another hard-fought game.

JIM FRANKO took scoring honors for the Bears with 18 tallies.

He was followed by Jim Stelts with 13 markers. Stelts also led the Leetonia rebounders with 13.

Dale Murphy followed Harrold in the Clipper scoring with 14 points.

Columbiana connected on 24 of 64 from the field for 37.5 per cent and popped in 18 of 26 from the foul line for 69.2 per cent.

Leetonia had a cool night from the floor as they meshed 28.7 per cent of their shots canning 19 of 66 while at the free throw stripe the Bears made good on 16 of 24 attempts for a percentage of 66.6.

The Columbiana JV's made it a double victory by downing the Bear reserves, 50-31.

Cincinnati Whips Drake 86-64 for 8th Straight Win

Malone Rolls Over E. Nazarene 68-54

Steubenville Halts Cumberland;
Xavier Trips Western Kentucky

By The Associated Press
All six of Friday night's basketball games involving Ohio college teams were with out-of-state foes and the Buckeye quintets came out on top in all but two.

Bearcats Win 8th Straight
Cincinnati traveled to Des Moines where the Bearcats whipped Drake 86-64 for their eighth straight victory; Malone of Canton journeyed to Quincy, Mass. to defeat Eastern Nazarene 68-54; and — playing at home — Xavier held on for an 80-77 triumph over Western Kentucky and Steubenville got by Cumberland, Ky. 82-72.

Taking home court losses were Wilberforce, kayoed 83-54 by Oakland City of Indiana and Rio Grande, battling back to tie Detroit Tech but bowing out 67-62 in an overtime period.

Cincinnati (13-3) limited Drake to only two field goals in the first 14 minutes, then coasted to its fourth Missouri Valley Conference win in six loop outings.
The Bearcats, leading 10-8, scored 12 straight points while holding the Bulldogs scoreless and the outcome was never in doubt from then on. The winners had a comfortable 39-19 advantage at intermission.

Xavier Gets Seare
Xavier's Musketeers thought they had things in the bag at halftime when they led 48-32, but they had to fight for their lives in the second half to eke out a victory over Western Kentucky. The Hilltoppers scored 45 points after intermission while Xavier mustered 32. Leading point-maker was Musketeer Jack Thobe with 27, all but seven coming in the first half.

The Steubenville-Cumberland score was tied 10 times in the first half, which ended with the Barons on top 38-36. It was tied again at 50-all with 13 minutes left then Steubenville, with a 26-point performance by Bob Beatty, moved out front to stay.

Wilberforce never trailed in the first half and held a 38-34 margin at mid-game. But Oakland City came back with a 49-point second half to win by 29.

Rio Grande Loses In Overtime
Rio Grande led by as much as 10 points in the opening period and 34-26 at the half. But Detroit Tech caught up at 49-49 and went ahead 53-49 before the Redmen tied it at 53 when regulation play ended. Rio Grande scored the first basket of the overtime period but the Dynamics came back with two and never gave up the advantage.

Brigham Young Hammers Utah

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
College basketball's road trap has snared Kansas State and Utah.

Kansas State Loses

The 10th-ranked Wildcats, latest member of the elite to try bucking the home court advantage, carried a 10-game winning streak and an earlier victory over Kansas into the Jayhawks' lair Friday night or a showdown or top spot in the Big Eight Conference. Kansas won 75-66.

The Utes, led by Billy (The Hill) McGill, invaded Provo, Utah or a Skyline Conference game against Brigham Young. BYU won 91-88.

Cincinnati's Bearcats won their eighth in succession by rapping host Drake 86-64 in a Missouri Valley Conference game, and Memphis State rolled to its 30th straight home triumph with a 70-60 victory over Murray State.

In another Skyline game, Utah State edged Montana 58-57 on two foul shots by Cornell Green with eight seconds left. Idaho State whipped Western (Colo.) State 63-53. Stanford whipped Washington 61-58 in overtime in a Big Five Conference clash as Phil Kelly sank a 50-foot jump shot to put the Indians ahead with 1:35 remaining.

Burgess Scores 37

Elsewhere Oregon defeated Washington State 60-53, Oregon State beat Idaho 67-52, Xavier of Ohio edged Western Kentucky 80-77, Syracuse whipped Alfred 79-67 and Seattle nipped Gonzaga 86-84 despite a 37-point scoring performance by Frank Burgess, the major college scoring leader.

At Lawrence, Kan., Bill Bridges, Kansas' rebounding ace, turned scorer and dropped in 24 points as the slow-starting Jayhawks (10-5) methodically cut down an "ear" eight-point lead built by Kansas State (11-3) and took over first place in the Big Eight with a 4-1 record. The Wildcats are 2-1.

BYU, trailing 67-54 with 15 minutes left, rolled back on the accurate firing of Dave Eastis and Gary Earnest to overtake Utah (10-5) with Eastis getting the go-ahead basket when McGill was charged with goaltending.

Contestants Closely Grouped

Bowling Classic In Final Four Rounds

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Two of the closest races in tournament history shaped up today as the $68,150 National All Star Bowling event headed into the final four rounds.

Observers conceded that any one of four contestants stood a good chance to succeed Harry Smith of St. Louis as the men's champion, and the women's division was even more tightly bunched. Only 2-42 Petersen points separated the top seven lady bowlers.

The Petersen system awards one point for each 50 pins felled and each game in the head-to-head matches.

Tucker Holds Lead
Bill Tucker of Rockhill, Mo., a darkhorse who rolled a record 995 series for four games Friday, had a slim 26-pin lead going into the fourth and final day of match play competition.

He had 234-20 points. Earl Johnson of Chicago was second with 233-44. Third and fourth were the two St. Louis stars who won the National Doubles crown last September, Ray Bluth and Dick Weber.

Bluth had 232-25 points and Weber 231-37. Though both have won numerous titles as members of the famed Budweiser Beer team, neither has captured the coveted all-star championship.

Garms Paces Women
Lined up in close order in the women's race to succeed Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia as champion are Shirley Garms, Chicago, 107-39 points; Phyllis Notaro, Brant, N. Y., 107-38; Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids, Mich., 107-20; Jean Eder, Westfield N. J., 106-45; Hope Riccelli, Downey, Calif., 106-31; Helen Shablis, Detroit, 105-03; and La Verne Carter, St. Louis, 104-47.

Tonight's final round will be telecast over ABC from 10 to 11 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

By Lisbon Boosters Officers Elected
LISBON — Edward Heim of N. Market St. was elected president of the Lisbon Boosters Club at a meeting Thursday at the home of Gail Lewis of Sunset drive.

Heim, owner of the Heim Sheet Metal Co. of E. Chestnut St., succeeds A. Monty Muntean, Alton Crothers, Lodge Thorne, past presidents, and Harvey Cusick, were elected vice presidents. Crothers will handle the football program advertising; Thorne, the membership; and Cusick, the ways and means committees. Max Gerwig was elected secretary and John Ebert was re-elected treasurer.

Allan Dickey, past president, will serve as liaison man between the Lisbon High School coaching staff and the club.

Various committees were formed and chairmen selected. The chairmen are Charles Lederle, William Morgan, Robert Leggett, Frank Henry, Rev. William Hohman, Monty Muntean, Ray Davies, Bill Peterson, William Hailey, Roger James, Charles Faust, G. C. Rauch and Leland S. Firestone.

Discussions were held on an all-sports banquet, with a nationally prominent sports figure as principal speaker and a new physical fitness program for the summer months was discussed.

THE ENCOUNTER was nip-and-tuck all the way. The first period was knotted at 11-11 and North Lima grabbed a two-point margin 27-25 at intermission.

Rich Arnold was the big gun for Greenford in the first 16 minutes, canning four fielders and two fouls for 10 tallies.

Greenford started its move in the third period, surging a 46-42 quarter lead by outscoring the Zippers, 21-15. The Bobcats kept the points coming as they tossed in 10 markers while North Lima flipped in 13 in the final stanza.

BOB COOK TALLIED 10 points for Greenford in the second half and Clyde Shoff dropped in 13 in the final two cantos. Ward Manchester racked up 12 points in the final 16 minutes for the Zips.

Greenford canned eight of 14 from the foul line for a percentage of 56 while North Lima hit for 71 per cent at the charity stripe, dropping in five of seven.

Cook and Shoff took high point honors for the Bobcats with 15 markers each.

Manchester caged 17 points to take game honors for the Zippers. North Lima copped the JV tilt, 27-22.
